Highlands Pacific Limited has today released its interim financial report for the half-year ended 30 June 2009.

The result is a net operating profit of US$3.3 million.

The profit is attributable in large part to the gain on the sale of exploration licence 1277 to Barrick Gold Corporation (a transaction first signed in December 2007) and the gain on the sale of surplus properties in Madang, PNG.

Comment by Highlands Pacific Managing Director Mr John Gooding: "Highlands is in a strong and sound financial position with US$23.3 million of cash in the bank and no debt."

"Commencement of commissioning of the US$1.4 billion Ramu nickel project is only months away and the Frieda copper gold project is progressing well through a pre-feasibility study."

"With the recent lift of base metal prices, the Company is in a great position with two emerging world class assets and a portfolio of exploration prospects."

The full financial results are attached.

4. EXPLORATION & EVALUATION EXPENDITURE

	Frieda US$000	Other US$000	Total US$000
Balance 1 January 2009	25,000	-	25,000
Capitalised during the period	15	321	336
Less provisions for exploration costs	(15)	(321)	(336)
Balance 30 June 2009	25,000	-	25,000

The carrying value of the Group's interest in the Frieda project was increased at the end of the 2008 year. This increase was the result of the confidence in the project progressing towards development escalating.

During the 2008 year an extended scoping study was completed and the manager / operator announced that they would be advancing the project to an 18 month pre-feasibility study. If the project passes set hurdles during this stage it is expected to then progress to a feasibility study. The manager / operator is required to complete a feasibility study on the project by January 2012 or relinquish it's share in the project back to Highlands.

In assessing the carrying value of the Frieda project, the Directors have considered the present value of the future cash flows to be generated by the asset assuming its ultimate successful development, discounted by a weighted average cost of capital of 12%. They have also considered the potential current realisable value by reference to comparable transactions and farm-in arrangements.

Critical assumptions used in arriving at the present value of the future cash flows include long term commodity prices for copper of US$2.00/lb and gold US$700/oz. Sensitivities have been applied to all critical assumptions with the resulting range of values comparing favorably with the carrying value.

As the Group is free carried up to the completion of the feasibility study by the operator / manager by January 2012 this has also been taken into consideration. The project manager has expended almost US$60 million to June 2009 and has budgeted expenditure of a further US$18 million for the remainder of the 2009 year. The Group's share of this expenditure is being fully funded by the operator / manager. It is expected that the level of expenditure will continue for the pre-feasibility study throughout the first half of the 2010 year and then increase further during the feasibility study to be completed during 2010 / 2011.

It is anticipated that as the project continues to advance towards development that the carrying value will be increased further. The Group's expenditure to date on the Frieda project is approximately US$42 million which means the Group is still holding an impairment charge of approximately US$17 million on the project.

5. INVESTMENT IN RAMU PROJECT

	Consolidated 30 June 2009 US$000
Ramu
Balance brought forward	50,000
Capitalised during the period	185
Less provisions for exploration costs	(185)
Balance carried forward	50,000

The carrying value of the Group's interest in the Ramu project is US$50 million.

Early in the 2008 year the project announced that debt financing was completed and that the project was fully funded with construction officially starting. The operator / manager remains committed to the target timeline of construction being completed by the end of the 2009 year with commissioning to commence immediately thereafter.

In assessing the carrying value of the Ramu project, the Directors have considered the present value of the future cash flows to be generated by the asset assuming its ultimate successful development, discounted by a risk adjusted equity discount rate of 10%. They have also considered potential current realisable value by reference to comparable transactions and farm-in arrangements.

Other critical assumptions used in arriving at the present value of the future cash flows include long term commodity prices for nickel of US$7.00/lb and cobalt US$24.00/lb. Sensitivities have been applied to all critical assumptions with the resulting range of values comparing favorably with the carrying value. A 10% movement in the price assumptions for nickel results in a movement in the present value of future cash flows of US$25 million while for cobalt it results in a movement of US$7 million.

The recent economic downturn in late 2008 and early 2009, which has improved, has been considered in arriving at a valuation for the project. However the assumptions used in the financial model in the past and currently, in regards to commodity prices, have always been based on long term pricing.

The Group's expenditure to date on the Ramu project is approximately US$90 million which means the Group is still holding an impairment charge of approximately US$40 million on the project.

6. SHARE CAPITAL

The total number of shares issued as at 30 June 2009 was 652,402,148. In accordance with the Papua New Guinea Companies Act 1997 the Company's shares are fully paid, have no par value and there is no authorised capital level.

7. CONTINGENT ASSETS AND LIABILITIES

Contingent Liability

During 1999, Highlands Pacific entered into an agreement with Eastern Pacific Mines Limited ("Eastern") to purchase Eastern's 10% interest in the Ramu joint venture. The following contingent liability remains as a result of the acquisition:

- When the Ramu project commences commercial production, the payment of the Kina equivalent of A$0.25m plus A$1.25m which may be satisfied by payment in Kina (cash) or by an issue of Highlands Pacific's shares at a price determined by the average trading price of Highlands Pacific's shares on the ASX over the proceeding ten (10) days. The satisfaction of the payment by cash or by the issue of shares is at Highlands Pacific's election.

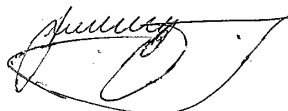

There are no other material matters pending which, in the opinion of the Directors, could give rise to any liabilities which should be disclosed as contingent liabilities.
